PETPLANS shifting from Pre-Need to Financial Products Marketing

PETPLANS Inc., one of the country's leading Pre-Need Companies, will be moving forward from the pre-need industry to the marketing of various financial products.

To do this, the Company will get proper approval to convert its planholders' certificates into shares of a professionally and independently managed Mutual Fund.

Lorenzo T. Ocampo, PETPLANS President & CEO, said this move forward "is the best alternative we can take to protect the interests of our planholders. We are leaving the pre-need industry, while the trust fund is liquid and intact, because the pre-need framework is no longer conducive to selling or owning pre-need plans."

"The changes of SEC rules, done without consultation in the middle of the game, and the continuing sophistication of the market no longer allow us to future place it back to our planholders, which is the whole point of the pre-need business," he said.

PETPLANS will be shifting its business into what it calls business funds—the network that which will include Health, RMD, and retirement plans into the CMAI plan will provide institutions, or mainly financial, and elsewhere and several delivery services, selling financial products and services and other core facilities.

To satisfy legal requirements that will allow the way to this conversion plan, PETPLANS has a petition for recognition with the Mahab Regional Trial Court. The Company is seeking the court's permission to convert all outstanding pre-need plans and contracts into a professionally managed mutual fund.

The photo is a black and white photograph of a group of about ten people, mostly women, standing in two rows. They are all dressed in professional business attire. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

PETPLANS will continue to operate but without a new name. PETPLANS Financial Corporation, which will no longer be subject to the uncertainties and restrictions of the pre-need industry, the Company is expected to let the conversion plan will provide a complete course for the planholders.

After the approval of the conversion petition is pending, PETPLANS will continue to pay the scheduled education pension and insurance benefits due to planholders.

THE MECHANICS OF CONVERSION

Upon the conversion's approval by the court, planholders will exchange their pre-need plans, contracts and insurance certificates for a fund Certificate reflecting a certain number of shares with a corresponding value proportionate to their share in the fund.

For planholders who are not yet fully paid, all the subsequent payments will be deposited directly to the Mutual Fund, for which additional certificates will be issued to the planholders.

Once the conversion is completed, holders of fully paid Fund certificates may decide to hold on to or withdraw their investment.

Advantages of Mutual Fund Cited

A mutual fund is a fund operated by an investment company or placed under investment management of a bank or financial entity, which invests money from shareholders and invests in stocks, bonds, options, commodities, or money market securities.

Since the law does not allow mutual funds to guarantee a return, they may provide disposable assets on portfolio investments.

These funds offer investors the advantages of diversification and professional management.

Another aspect of the fund is, in many ways, experienced and expert investment decisions, which can help investors by professional help. Investors can also and being taken care of.

"Once outside the pre-need industry's limited investment guidelines," Ocampo said, "the fund can make advantage of broader investment opportunities that allow for better risk management, more flexible asset-allocation, and higher returns."

Doing things right

A track record of excellence

PETPLANS has proven its Financial Strength, Commitment to Customer Interests, and Customer Excellence.

A Total Trust Fund Assets of P20.1 million, which P2.2 million is 44% in cash or cash-equivalent investments. With this record, the Company has enough liquidity to cover plan obligations over the next 10 years.

- Over P200 million in cash or cash equivalent investments and over P50 million in real property assets in its investment portfolio.
- In its peak, now growing at a rate of 25% per year, net assets over P30 million nationwide, 500 employees and 12,000 active agents serving some 144,000 planholders.

- Moved to become the 4th largest company in just one year after its organization of another marketing program by one among the 18 leading industry players.
- Most comprehensively ISO-certified pre-need company, taking its work client satisfaction, services and processes.

- Operates the "Map Outstanding Pre-Need Company" by a independent review last year.
- Total Assets of over P3 billion.

Consistently doing the right thing

PETPLANS was the first to stop selling traditional open-ended educational plans in 1982 - at great financial sacrifice - because it was the right thing to do.

This decision proved to be correct, with sales fees increasing by 12 times over the last two-year period from 2003 to 2006. The SEC banned the sale of such open-ended plans only in 2008.

PETPLANS has also offered a buy-back program to its open-ended planholders that paid off their original investments plus interest that was higher than any other plan.

To date, less than 2,000 of some 4,000 open-ended plans have not been bought back. The program resulted in some P10 million savings for the company.

PETPLANS recently decided to voluntarily improve a memorandum on the sale of new plans as it has become the state that current regulations will prevent plans of interest for planholders.

We are in the business of selling "peace of mind."

The present environment does not allow that.

A mutual fund is the best alternative to pre-need plans.

Lozano laughs off vigil for impeachment complaint

Manila, Jan. 24 (PDI) — President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo today brushed off a vigil in Manila protesting her impeachment complaint.

Arroyo, who was in the Philippines for the first time in over a decade, was seen smiling and waving to the crowd as she walked through the streets of Manila. She was accompanied by her family and a large entourage of security forces.

Manila, Dec. 24, 2005

Arroyo's visit to Manila was part of a series of trips to the Philippines, including a stop in Cebu. She was seen in various locations, including a shopping center and a hotel. The president's visit was widely covered by the media, and she was seen interacting with the public.

The vigil, held in front of the Manila City Hall, was organized by a group of citizens who were protesting against Arroyo's impeachment. They held signs and banners, and some of them were seen shouting slogans.

Arroyo's response to the vigil was dismissive. She said that she was not interested in the protests and that she was focused on her work. She also said that she was confident that the impeachment process would be handled fairly.

The vigil continued for several hours, with a large number of people participating. The police were seen maintaining order, and there were no major incidents reported.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup for studying the effect of solution concentration on reaction rate. It features a reaction vessel with a stirrer and thermometer, connected to a gas collection system consisting of a gas syringe and a water trough. A balance scale and a stopwatch are also shown, indicating the measurement of mass and time, respectively.

1. The first step is to identify the main components of the system. This includes the hardware (e.g., sensors, actuators, controllers) and the software (e.g., algorithms, data structures).

2. The second step is to define the system's goals and objectives. This involves determining what the system is intended to achieve and how it will be evaluated.

3. The third step is to design the system architecture. This involves determining the overall structure of the system, including the flow of data and the interaction between components.

4. The fourth step is to implement the system. This involves building the hardware and software components and integrating them into a functional system.

5. The fifth step is to test and validate the system. This involves running experiments to verify that the system meets its goals and objectives and that it is reliable and robust.

6. The sixth step is to deploy the system. This involves installing the system in its intended environment and ensuring that it is properly maintained and updated.

7. The seventh step is to monitor and evaluate the system. This involves collecting data on the system's performance and using it to assess its effectiveness and make improvements as needed.

The image is a highly degraded scan of a document. It shows a vertical page with several lines of text that are completely illegible due to extreme blurring and low resolution. At the bottom of the page, there is a section that appears to be a header or footer, containing some faint, unrecognizable markings and possibly a date or page number. The overall quality is poor, making any original content impossible to discern.

India call centers hit by backlash over refunds

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's call center industry is facing a backlash from customers who are demanding refunds for services they say were not as advertised. The backlash is centered around a company called "Call Center World," which has been accused of misleading customers about the quality of its services. The company has denied the allegations and says it is working to resolve the issues. The industry is also facing criticism from the government for not doing enough to protect consumers.

Top US general in Iraq plans troop cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The US general in Iraq plans to cut the number of troops in the country to 10,000 by the end of the year, a move that would be a significant reduction from the current force of 140,000.

The move is part of a broader strategy to reduce the US military presence in Iraq and to focus on other global security issues.

CIA officer says US ignored warnings about WMD errors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A CIA officer says the United States ignored warnings about Iraq's weapons of mass destruction (WMD) program, leading to the 1990 invasion of Kuwait. The officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that intelligence officials had received multiple reports of Iraq's WMD capabilities, but these were dismissed or ignored by the administration at the time.

China won't change sex selection abortions

BEIJING (UPI) — China's government has rejected calls to ban sex selection abortions, stating that the practice is a personal choice for parents. The government has implemented measures to regulate the practice, but has not agreed to a full ban. Officials say that sex selection is a common practice in many cultures and that a ban would be an infringement on personal freedoms.

With 27 features and a 10-minute digital film, Kidlat's new work is a testament to the power of digital technology.

BY THE TIME YOU READ THIS, the digital film boom will have already taken place. It's a fact that's hard to ignore, especially when you see the results of the digital film boom. The digital film boom is a phenomenon that has taken the world by storm. It's a boom that has created a new market for digital films, and it's a boom that has created a new market for digital films. The digital film boom is a phenomenon that has taken the world by storm. It's a boom that has created a new market for digital films, and it's a boom that has created a new market for digital films.

H'wood pins hope on 'Superman' & 'Pirates'

Hollywood is betting big on two new franchises: 'Superman' and 'Pirates of the Caribbean'. The studio heads are confident that these two franchises will be the next big thing in Hollywood. They are confident that these two franchises will be the next big thing in Hollywood. They are confident that these two franchises will be the next big thing in Hollywood.

Traffic and the economy

By [Name]

By [Name]

As the economy slows, traffic is becoming a major concern for many drivers. The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) reports that traffic congestion is a significant problem across the country, particularly in major metropolitan areas. The FHWA estimates that traffic congestion costs the U.S. economy over $100 billion each year in lost time and fuel. The FHWA also reports that traffic congestion is a major cause of air pollution, which is a significant health concern. The FHWA is working to develop solutions to reduce traffic congestion, such as carpooling, using public transit, and driving more efficiently. The FHWA also encourages drivers to use the 511 toll-free number to get real-time traffic information and to report traffic problems.

But other drivers are also concerned about the impact of traffic congestion on the economy. Many businesses rely on a steady flow of traffic to their stores and offices. If traffic is congested, it can take longer for customers to reach the store, which can lead to lost sales. Businesses also have to pay more for fuel and maintenance when traffic is congested. The FHWA is working to develop solutions to reduce traffic congestion, such as carpooling, using public transit, and driving more efficiently. The FHWA also encourages drivers to use the 511 toll-free number to get real-time traffic information and to report traffic problems.

BIR misses income tax collection target

By [Name]

The Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) has missed its target for income tax collection for the first time in over a decade. The BIR reported that it collected only 98.5 percent of its target for the first quarter of 2008. This is a significant decline from the 100 percent target that the BIR has consistently met in previous years. The BIR has attributed this decline to a number of factors, including a decline in the number of taxpayers who have filed their returns, a decline in the amount of tax paid by each taxpayer, and a decline in the number of taxpayers who have paid their taxes on time. The BIR is working to develop solutions to increase income tax collection, such as increasing the number of taxpayers who have filed their returns, increasing the amount of tax paid by each taxpayer, and increasing the number of taxpayers who have paid their taxes on time. The BIR also encourages taxpayers to use the 1-800-900-8291 toll-free number to get information about filing their returns and paying their taxes.

Increased fund flows among developing countries to benefit RP

By [Name]

Increased fund flows among developing countries are expected to benefit the Philippines (RP). The World Bank reports that fund flows to developing countries have increased significantly in recent years, particularly in the area of infrastructure development. The World Bank estimates that fund flows to developing countries increased by over 50 percent in 2007 compared to 2006. This increase in fund flows is expected to continue in 2008, which will benefit the RP. The RP has a number of infrastructure projects that are currently under development, and the increased fund flows are expected to provide the RP with the resources it needs to complete these projects. The World Bank also reports that the RP is one of the countries that is expected to benefit most from the increased fund flows. The World Bank encourages the RP to continue to attract investment and to develop its infrastructure to take full advantage of the increased fund flows.

The World Bank also reports that the RP is one of the countries that is expected to benefit most from the increased fund flows. The World Bank encourages the RP to continue to attract investment and to develop its infrastructure to take full advantage of the increased fund flows. The World Bank also reports that the RP is one of the countries that is expected to benefit most from the increased fund flows. The World Bank encourages the RP to continue to attract investment and to develop its infrastructure to take full advantage of the increased fund flows.

Foreign investors still keen on investing in Clark

inflamed by lack of late maturing period, incentives

By Ronald P. Domingo

CLARK, PHILIPPINES (PNS)—Foreign investors are still keen on investing in Clark, despite the lack of late maturing period, incentives and other factors, according to a report by the Clark Development Corporation (CDC).

The report, titled "Clark Development Corporation: A Report on the Status of Clark Development," was released last week. It states that the CDC has received a number of inquiries from foreign investors, particularly from the United States, Japan, and the European Union, regarding the possibility of investing in Clark.

The CDC is a government-owned corporation that is responsible for the development and management of Clark. It has a long history of attracting foreign investment to the area, and it has a strong track record of successful projects.

The report also mentions that the CDC is currently in the process of negotiating with the Japanese government for a new investment agreement. This agreement would allow Japanese investors to establish a presence in Clark, and it would also provide them with certain incentives.

In addition, the CDC is also working on a number of other projects, including the development of a new airport and the construction of a new highway. These projects are expected to further enhance the attractiveness of Clark as an investment destination.

Honda places bets on small vehicles

By Robert D. Brown

As the Japanese economy continues to struggle, Honda Motor Co. is betting on small vehicles to drive growth. The company is planning to launch a new line of small cars in the U.S. market, a move that could help it compete with other major manufacturers. Honda's focus on small vehicles is part of a broader strategy to diversify its product line and expand its market reach. The company is also investing in research and development for new technologies, including electric and hybrid vehicles, to stay ahead in a competitive market.

Mobile TV is 'snack TV,' says Ericsson

By [illegible] Staff Writer

Mobile TV is not just a fancy term for watching television on a mobile device, it is a new way of consuming content, says Ericsson. The company's research shows that mobile TV is a "snack TV" that is used for short bursts of time, rather than a "sit-down TV" that is used for long periods of time. This is because mobile TV is often used while commuting or during short breaks, making it a convenient way to consume content on the go.

Level-Up surrenders to underground economy

By [illegible] Staff Writer

Level-Up, a popular mobile game, has been found to be heavily involved in the underground economy. The game's developers have been accused of using illegal means to promote the game, including offering large sums of money to players who can help them reach higher levels. This has led to a significant increase in the game's popularity, but it has also raised concerns about the integrity of the game and the potential for exploitation.

Night of the patriots

By Edler Caba

MIEN IN THE MIEEN OF A foreigner's past of shared traditions, the nation's independence day was their shared destiny. Common spirit ignited their home-grown, you know, their home-grown, and with much debt, but you also share this by a great night in your life. In the past, it was a national holiday to celebrate the nation's independence, and today it is a national holiday to celebrate the nation's independence.

Denis Matsuev, a young man in a dark suit, sitting on a stage.

It was a relief to see Matsuev's very typical manner in the second movement, and again to see his massive tones and chords bleeding together with the orchestra in the last movement.

Two young women, one in a blue dress and one in a white dress, smiling.
